

News Letter

DECEMBER 2018

VULCAN EMPLOYEE AWARDS 2018

Vulcan Refractories held their annual awards ceremony and Christmas celebration on 7th December and were pleased that Brian Zampell was able to join us again for this special event.

2018 has been a very good year for Vulcan Refractories both in sales but more importantly Health and Safety.

We were especially proud this year as we achieved our 5th consecutive Gold award from RoSPA and as a result obtained a gold medal, a fantastic achievement.

Each year Vulcan award employees for their work in health and safety and for long service. We award the safety team and an individual who has contributed most to Health and Safety. This year the award went to Laura Plant who works hard behind the scenes keeping records up to date and all the functions which make the system work smoothly. Well done Laura.

Employee of the year was awarded to Dave Dale who followed last years Safety Employee of the Year with the 2019 Employee of the Year. A great example of work force involvement in both Health and Safety and contribution to continuous improvement in the company.

Top: Dave Dales: Employee of the Year
Middle: Safety team 2: Winning Safety team.
Bottom: Laura Plant: Safety Employee of the Year.

